HARTIN, SERVING LIFE FOR MURDER, TO SEEK PARDON

MAN CONVICTED OF KRAUSE MURDER ASKS CLEMENCY.

PLEA TO BLAINE

Crime Was Committed in Lonely River Shack Seven Years Ago.

Fred Hartin, 37, convicted of first degree murder by a Rock county circuit court jury Nov. 16, 1917, after a four-day trial that was one of the most sensational here in a score of years, will make application to Governor John J. Blaine on Sept. 28 for a pardon from the life sentence imposed on him by Judge George Grimm.

Announcement of the convicted murderer's plan was made Monday by his attorney, C. B. Dillitt, of the firm of Mooney & Dillitt, Waupun. The crime, for which Hartin has already served close to six years in the state penitentiary at Waupun, was the murder of H. A. Krause in a shack along Rock river near Bassford's beach, 18 miles north of Beloit, Nov. 1, 1916.

Robbery Was Motive. Although Hartin never confessed to the murder and stuck to his alibi story throughout the celebrated trial, the state presented strong, circumstantial evidence against him that indicated Hartin had planned to rob Krause while both were getting sen-

Bulgarian Minister Is Murdered

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Prague.—Three shots were fired at Dr. Daskaloff, Bulgarian ambassador, at noon Sunday, and he died a short time later on the operating table.

His assailant, Atanas Nikoloff, a 28 year old Bulgarian, was arrested. M. Daskaloff was appointed ambassador to Czechoslovakia under the regime of former Premier Stamboulsky. When Stamboulsky was overthrown by the Bulgarian army in June of this year, the new Seda government requested the Czech authorities to extradite Daskaloff, but the request was refused. In December last, when M. Daskaloff was minister of the interior, a bomb was thrown at his automobile as he was returning from work. One was hurt and no damage was done.

ARNOLD GIVEN $100,000 FOR PERSONAL USE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Superior.—That Victor H. Arnold, former head of the Madison Bond company, charged by federal grand jury with using the mails to defraud, was given over $100,000 of the Victor H. Arnold company's money for his personal use, was the testimony of J. R. Oliver, former treasurer of the Chicago concern, on the stand in federal court here this morning.

A portion of this money was used by Arnold in purchasing a Rolls-Royce automobile in Chicago, the witness testified.

Albert Weinand, cashier of the Evansville, Ill., State bank, a former Madison Bond company employee, testified that the collateral behind the bond issues, 48 to 64 of the company in many cases was not equal to the outstanding indebtedness of the issues.

SHORTAGE IN GRAIN FIRM

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Minneapolis.—A shortage of at least $40,000 has been uncovered in the accounts of the Minneapolis grain company by an audit of the concern's books, J. H. McCarthy, president of the company, announced today. The audit was made following the disappearance of an employee of the firm.

The audit is continuing, Mr. McCarthy said. The shortage may reach $60,000 or $75,000, he added. According to the Minneapolis company, the disappearance of the employee was not a case of embezzlement, but a case of a former bookkeeper of the Chicago concern, each told of the switching of the collateral of the various bond issues at Arnold's direction, that the collateral might jibe with the outstanding debts.

Gun Battle Marks Elections in Erin

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Dublin.—A live automatic rifle and machine gun fire occurred in Dublin early today.

The shooting was not explained. Balloting in the Dail elections proceeded, with national troops patrolling the streets. A motor car carrying James Crowley and the minister of fisheries, William Lynch, both of whom are candidates of the government party for Kerry, was attacked by a crowd while passing through Lillaw yesterday. Shots were fired and one young man was seriously injured.

Voting in the Dail elections began throughout the Irish free state at 9 a. m. today, with an electorate of more than 1,750,000 eligible to cast ballots. Nearly 600,000 of this number are new voters, most of them young people of both sexes.

The day is a public holiday and makes possible the closing of the polls at 7 o'clock. Supporters of the government party have daily increased in confidence and it is now believed that this group will constitute the largest block in the new house. The republicans rely on the voters to improve the showing made by them in the last election, when they took 38 seats.

The final pre-election pronouncement of the republicans, issued as a manifesto, bore the name of Eamon Doherty, but is strongly suspected of having been the work of Mrs. E. E. Doherty, who can read the republican leader's mind as can no one else.

2 BOYS BURNED AT STAKE BY FRIENDS

Play Becomes Tragedy When Fire Gets Beyond Control of Youths.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Spring Lake, Mich.—Charles Spindler, 11, and William Hubbard, 12, were tied to a tree in Belmar Sunday by two other boys, one of them the Hubbard boy's elder brother, and burned at the stake. Both boys died in the Ann Arbor hospital here Sunday night.

Swathed in vaseline gauze and under the influence of a hypodermic, the boys before their deaths, a state minutes apart, after having literally been cooked to death by a fire which evidently got beyond the control of the boys, refused to tell just what happened.

Dick Forman, 16, and Taylor Hubbard, 18, who, according to the police, are responsible for building the fire, are under arrest. The hospital authorities got the impression from young Spindler and Hubbard that the older boys "had it in" for them. But the youngsters bravely laughed at any leading questions and refused to the last to blame Forman or Taylor Hubbard.

They said they were going to have some fun with us and took us out and tied us to a tree," the Hubbard boy said before his death. "They got some gasoline and they set fire to the excelsior. It burned fast. We could not get away and they could not reach us without getting hurt themselves. That's all I remember."

The version of the tragedy was that the children were playing "Kulluk Klan." Belmar is one of the strongholds of the Klan in New Jersey.

SEEK GUNMEN WHO SHOT UP HOMES IN NEGRO VILLAGE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Savannah, Ga.—City and county officials were seeking East Savannah, a negro settlement, and the surrounding country early this morning in search of an unknown number of white men in three automobiles who drove through the settlement and fired more than 100 shots into houses, killing one negro, according to reports, and wounding a number of others.

No motive for the firing is known. They appeared suddenly and commenced shooting without warning, it was said.

County policemen were immediately rushed to East Savannah, but were able to learn very little from the terrified negroes other than that the men in the three automobiles were white.

JUNKING OF NAVAL MONSTERS STARTS IN PACIFIC YARDS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] San Francisco.—The destruction by hammer and torch of what many nations in the world might consider the most magnificent of naval monuments, the two Pacific coast ship yards, in compliance with orders predicting the annihilation of the fleet in Washington.

"Seven ships of the line," six of them outworn in service and the seventh, the greatest of all, still less than half completed on the launching ways, are being fairly over run today by "junking" crews, chopping small ordnance and other works that "may come in handy" later.

When the stripping is completed the hulls either will be disposed of by private owners for destruction or will be cut up and junked by the government. Foremost in size comes the great Montana, 27.6 percent completed at Mare Island. In point of historical interest, the ship, also at Mare Island, claims the greatest attention. Back in 1906, while this battleship was engaged in target practice off Provincetown, an explosion of one of her superguns, bursting killed the entire turret crew of 20 and almost wrecked the ship.

The Connecticut, at a Puget Sound shipyard, was the flagship of the American fleet on her tour around the world in 1908, and "carried the flag" for the greater part of her commissioned existence. Admiral "Bob" Peary, commander of the ship, got some of his most famous exploits when the historical globe circling cruise started. Her last detail was as flagship of the Pacific fleet.

The other ships are the Nebraska, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Vermont, at Mare Island, where they were de-commissioned several months ago.

City Thanked by Chicago Charities

Thanking the people of Janesville and vicinity for the two weeks' outpouring of Chicago tenement children here during August, a letter of appreciation was received Monday by the Rev. Henry Williamson from Miss Louise McGuire, supervisor, summer outings, of the United Children of Chicago.

Laden with gifts, the children returned to Chicago last week, thrilled by the experiences of their first vacation. They were all from the Hull house district, noted for its poverty and squalor.

"The children arrived home," writes Miss McGuire, "laden with gifts and with their whole aspect of life, as they know it, changed, due to the kindly interest and generosity of yourself, as well as the other good people of Janesville."

"May we ask you to extend to the people who took these children our sincere thanks, and in behalf of the children, may we ask you to keep them in mind so that another group or groups may come next year."

SON OF MAGNATE IS GUARDED FROM GIRL'S RELATIVES

CYRUS ADLER NARROWLY ESCAPES ROUGH HANDLING.

CHARGES FILED

Statutory Offense Included in Accusations by Kin of Milwaukee Child.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago.—Municipal Judge Truitt today dismissed a serious charge made against Cyrus Adler, son of Max Adler, wealthy vice-president of Sears, Roebuck and company, by the aunt of a 15 year old Milwaukee school girl. Relatives of the girl failed to appear in court. The police reported to the judge that the girl's relatives were unwilling to press the charges. After dismissing the charge that young Adler had attacked the girl while on an automobile ride, the judge continued charges of carrying concealed weapons pending further investigation.

Police were on guard today at the home of Max Adler, vice president of Sears, Roebuck and company, whose 24 year old son, Cyrus Adler, narrowly escaped rough treatment at the hands of angry relatives of a 15 year old girl, Sylvia Wagner, Milwaukee, whom he was charged with attacking.

Edmund R. Gibbons, waded his revolver threateningly at the crowd until a patrol wagon came with reinforcements and took the young man to the station. Young Adler, a few minutes before, had backed out of the home of the girl's aunt with his own revolver pointed at the girl's relatives, who chased him for three blocks.

The girl's aunt, with whom she had been on a visit from her home in Milwaukee, filed charges of carrying concealed weapons contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and a statutory charge.

Saturday afternoon Adler called up the girl's mother, Sylvia Wagner, and told her that he was coming. Fearing trouble, Adler, it is said, took along his revolver and narrowly escaped serious injury at the hands of the girl's relatives.

Last Wednesday evening, the girl's aunt, Mrs. Julia Liberman, told the police Adler and a companion invited the girl to come to her home to take a ride in Adler's automobile. The girl accepted.

BIRKENHEAD HELD ISOLATION FRIEND

British Press Displays Little Sympathy with Remarks of Earl in U. S.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London.—The Earl of Birkenhead has received little sympathy from the British press for the position in which he finds himself as a result of the "horrible" remarks he made last night delivered Friday night before the Institute of Politics at Williams-town.

The Morning Post asserts that the effect of Birkenhead's "ridiculous remarks" is to "confirm the isolationists in the wisdom of their policy of turning their backs on Europe."

In an editorial headed "Birkenhead's 'Horrible' Remarks," the Daily News says the British do not like the American tariff laws, but would welcome an almost prohibitive tariff on the importation of former members of British cabinets and a strict customs examination of the contents of their lecture tour portfolios.

The Westminster Gazette "notes that undue importance will not be attached to Birkenhead's words, asserting that there are a few politicians in England today who speak so exclusively for themselves as does Birkenhead."

Lord Birkenhead, in his Friday speech, declared the world was not yet ready for the idealism of Woodrow Wilson and that self-interest should determine the American policy toward Europe.

SUMMER BACK AGAIN; RAIN IS PLENTIFUL

Summer is returning! Brought on by damper weather with rain during the night, the temperature for Janesville took a jump upwards over the week-end. The lowest mark during Sunday night was 60 degrees. Thunder and lightning in small amounts came Sunday night. Rain came after midnight and continued through the early morning hours, resuming again in periodical showers throughout the day.

Real summer weather is expected before the week is out.

Believe Jensen Knows More of Balzer Murders

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Baraboo.—In the belief that Alvin Jensen, one of the allegedly confessed slayers of Robert Jaeger, Black Hawk reclus, knows more about the triple Balzer killing of August, 1922, than he has told officials, District Attorney Henry J. Bohn of Sauk county, prepared today to give the Madison painter one more chance to tell of any connection he may have with the slaying of the Sauk county family. Jensen and John Gallo, both of whom have signed confessions telling of their part in killing Jaeger, were expected to be arraigned before Judge Adolph Andor, mayor of Baraboo, some time today. If they express an intention to plead guilty to the crime, Judge E. Ray Stevens of Madison, will be called to sit in circuit court to receive their pleas and to pass sentence.

Officials said they were counting much on the quiz of Jensen to determine what he knows about the brutal slaying of William, Julius and Eugene Balzer on their Cassia Prairie farm. The man is reported by the county officers to have shown intimate knowledge of details of that crime.

It has been learned that Gallo was a prison record at Anamosa, Iowa, where he served in the reformatory for six years on conviction for grand larceny.

Investigators are still looking into the report that a third man is connected with the Jaeger killing. Jaeger died from injuries received when struck upon the head, without regaining consciousness to a sufficient extent to tell what happened to him. The only story of the attack is that which Sheriff William Ode of Sauk county and District Attorney Henry Bohn made public following lengthy questioning of the two men, from whom they announced

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Pittsburgh.—Rewards totaling $7,000 have been offered by the Ku Klux Klan for information as to those responsible for the riot Saturday night at Carnegie, in which Thomas R. Abbott, a klanman, was killed and a number of others wounded, one seriously.

ATTEMPT TO BREAK THREE AIR RECORDS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] San Diego, Cal.—Capt. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. John P. Richter took off at 5:07 a. m. from Rockwell field, North Island, in an attempt to establish an aviation record for endurance, speed and distance.

Continuous flight for at least 46, perhaps 50 hours, was the objective of the aviators, who represent the army. They expected to make the first contact with a refueling plane between 9:30 and 10:30 a. m. Thereafter they had planned to make contacts every two hours. The de Havilland plane manned by Capt. Smith and Lieut. Richter was expected to stay aloft on a course, illuminated at night, over the environs of San Diego.

STAND IS FIRM

Agreement Possible and Impertative, Is Assertion of Mediator.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Harrisburg, Pa.—Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania assembled leaders on each side in the anthracite controversy around his office today and told them bluntly that the proposed suspension of mining Sept. 1 could not be allowed.

Settlement of the controversy between anthracite miners and operators "is possible—and it must be done," Governor Pinchot said at the opening here of the conference, called by him in an effort to avert suspension of operations Sept. 1. Declaring the crisis now has been reached, he asserted "we must do in this eleventh hour what should have been done before."

"Must Be Done" "It can be done and must be done," he said. There is still time, he said, to use this time in an effective spirit of common counsel so the common danger may pass, with due regard to the rights of all, and with due credit and honor to all concerned."

With the exception of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, all participants in the Anthracite City negotiations were here today. Philip Murray, vice president of the union, was here in Mr. Lewis' absence, with three district delegates. The governor said the operators' police committee were present.

Hard Luck Tourist

Lost His Money; Then Baby Dies

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Tourists arriving from the south this morning told of pathetic luck that befell a small family near Augusta yesterday while touring from Michigan to Cody, Wyo., where they expect to make their home. According to the story the party consists of a man, his wife and a month's old baby. Just before reaching Augusta a pocketbook containing all the money they had, $165, was lost out of the auto, and all efforts to find it after three cars had passed over the road were futile. The head of the family was left with $2.00.

Near Augusta they found an old deserted house in which they fixed in their car. This was occupied by the husband and father, while the mother and baby were taken to a hotel for the night. Early this morning the baby died as a result of exposure, a doctor said.

When the tourists left Augusta this morning, members of the American Legion were taking up a collection to help defray the funeral expenses for the baby, while the father was awaiting a reply to a request for money sent to his father at Cody, who is a guide in Yellowstone park.

The father of the baby is an over-seas man exhibiting five bullet wounds in his right leg and traces of a fractured skull as a war record, the tourists said.

Hartlin went first to Chicago and then to Montana, where he enlisted in the aviation section of the army, and was later transferred to Camp Leavenworth. Here he was recognized by a man in his company as the suspect being sought in connection with the Krause murder. The man, who was later transferred to the Chicago penitentiary, told Hartlin that he had been in the prison, it was shown.

controls, the alarm device being a special feature. The art of making forgings out of brass has also been perfected by the company, and they are turning out great quantities.

The Janesville Laboratories was organized by Edward Leach, A. J. Brant, A. J. Glancy and Walter Leachman. Mr. Leach was formerly factory manager of the Samsom Tractor company.

AUTO THERMOSTAT OUTPUT GROWING

Janesville Laboratories Having Good Success with Various Products.

Organized in July, 1922, the Janesville Laboratories, Inc., located in the old Samsom engineering building, on East Milwaukee street, has had remarkable success with its products and is today producing thermostats, or heat controllers, for some of the most prominent automobile manufacturers in the country.

Little more than a year ago the company was quartered in a small paint shop in the rear of the Townsend Tractor company's plant, where experimental work was carried on. In September, feeling the necessity for larger quarters, the organization moved to its present location, where its machinery was installed.

Thermostats are now used as standard equipment on Packard, Cadillac, Pierce-Arrow, and Cole automobiles, and officials expect that within the near future they will be added to several other makes.

The basic principle of the thermostat is a corrugated diaphragm, manufactured by a special process. The ends of the diaphragm are closed with solid heads and a vacuum created inside. This vacuum is partially filled with a liquid at the temperature to be maintained. The instrument will measure anywhere from 20 to 200 degrees and is exceedingly accurate.

The company also manufactures controls for use in refrigerators, which are used solely on the Frigidaire and Kelvinator products.

Pressure controls for use on pumps are another type of product manufactured by the laboratories. The controls can be obtained for either large wall pumps for farm use or the smaller type.

Automatic Extinguishers. Automatic fire extinguishers are also equipped with Janesville fire

BOTH SIDES TOLD MINE SUSPENSION CAN'T BE ALLOWED

United Mine Workers, whose orders are out for closing down the mines Sept. 1.

There was scarcely a sound to interrupt the governor as he read his address.

"In my opinion, the wisest thing I can do is to deal separately with each side," he said. "To learn the reasons for demands as fully as I can, I request you give me these interviews."

"We'll be very glad to grant your request," Mr. Elyer responded at the close of the appeal.

"The miners will also," Mr. Murray said.

"Thank you gentlemen," Governor Pinchot, joining in the applause, then to 2 p. m. when the miners will come to his private office."

Held Confidential.

Governor Pinchot declared his purpose of treating the conference with each side as "wholly confidential." The governor's address follows:

"As a representative of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I have called you together for the purpose of finding a way of keeping the anthracite mines in operation. I am acting now solely in my capacity as governor of Pennsylvania, and with the rights and interests of the people of Pennsylvania, and of the anthracite using states, clearly in mind.

"The general public is a party to this controversy, and its rights, as well as the rights of the two other parties, must be respected."

A shortage of anthracite means not only a huge loss of profits to the operators—not only a huge loss of wages to the miners—but it means also loss of health and life to millions of American families, loss of comfort, of working power, and of time.

"The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has a responsibility to other anthracite using states, and to Canada, which is second only to her responsibility to the safety and welfare of her own citizens."

"We have taught them to use our product, and we have taught them to expect and value our service. We cannot lightly disappoint them."

World Lost Prosperity.

"The country is just now entering upon a period of prosperity after a prolonged depression. The closing down of the anthracite mines would tend to undermine the confidence essential to a continuance of this prosperity."

"Our railroads are heavily taxed already. A uneven output of coal—more in some areas and less in others—blocks transportation; and the blocking of transportation will be almost as effective in making a coal shortage as closing the mines."

"The public has no forgotten, and I shall not forget, the rights and interests of the miners and operators. Each side represents a great and vital service to the public. Moreover, each side in the possession of a great and vitally important duty to the people at large."

Public Justice, Patience.

"The public does not and cannot understand why it is so difficult to appreciate with your experience the background and the details of the present controversy. But it knows the essential facts. I cannot say that you will deny when I say that the anthracite-using people of the United States are losing patience, and I ask you to consider that fact with care."

"The public interest demands that this controversy shall be settled, and that a suspension of mining shall be avoided. The thing is possible—and it must be done."

"Settlement means that neither side can get everything it would like to have. Few people ever do in the world we live in. But the settlement of this dispute is absolutely necessary for the public safety and welfare."

Must Have Coal.

"The public needs and must have coal, and I am entirely confident that the public is going to have it. It is my duty to insure to the public, by every lawful means at my command, the necessary supply of coal."

"I recognize the right of mine workers to organize for their own protection, and to fair and decent conditions of work. I am fully aware that the strike is a right which should not be arbitrarily abridged or denied. The exercise of this right, however, should be made unnecessary by the use of orderly and reasonable methods of adjustment."

"I recognize the right of mine operators to a just return on the investment and their managerial ability."

"As the representative of the people of this Commonwealth, I am here to tell you that these rights are to be recognized and protected, and that the public rights are to be recognized and protected also."

Public Good First.

"The Roosevelt platform of 1912 asserted that 'the public good comes first.' Do not forget that the public cannot look with indifference upon unnecessary industrial conflict over private rights, while it suffers in health, comfort and the very essentials of life."

"The eleventh hour is upon us—and the crisis has now been reached. We must do it in this eleventh hour."

REVIEW BOARD IN SESSION, SEPT. 6

Notice Being Given Property Owners Where Assessments Have Been Increased.

With the task of fixing the assessed value of all real and personal property in Janesville for 1924 not quite completed, the board of review voted Monday to adjourn to Thursday, Sept. 6, for the annual hearing on assessments. The board will go into session at 9 a. m. and be prepared throughout the morning to hear any objections or answer any questions that may be raised by property owners. Those feeling their assessments unfair are given the opportunity now of making their protests rather than waiting until tax collection time when whatever they may want to do would be of no avail.

In order that no one may complain that his assessment was increased without his knowledge, the city assessor is preparing to notify the owner of every place of property where a raise in valuation has been made this year. They will be notified either verbally or by mail.

Those not receiving notification from the city assessor will know their assessments remain the same as last year. In the few cases where there have been decreases, the assessor will not send any notice as he does not anticipate any protests against reductions in valuation.

Confession had been obtained. The first indication that Jaeger had been attacked and robbed came when John Barlin, his nephew, in company with his hired man, Irwin, returned to their farm home at 11 p. m. Aug. 2, found him lying in a pool of blood.

He was taken to a Madison hospital, but could not be revived after the attack. Before he died, at 3 a. m. the following morning, his only words were, "Let me alone, boys; mind your own business."

Investigation by Sheriff Ode and several detectives, who were employed on the case, resulted in a number of false trails being followed for the first week after Jaeger's death.

Lacking a motive for the crime, the authorities worked on the supposition that the man had been slain by robbers. It was common talk in the vicinity of Black Hawk that Jaeger always kept large sums of money in his possession, because he did not trust banking institutions.

He was an uncommunicative man, who never discussed his affairs with anyone, and the authorities could find no one who could shed any light on the probable amount of money he might have had in his possession the night he was attacked.

—Pitkin Forum Clue

One clue, seemingly the most difficult to follow, resurfaced in the arrest of the two men on trial. On the night Jaeger was attacked an automobile had been driven to the vicinity of his shack.

Three of the tires on the machine were of a peculiar tread and the fourth was different from the others. This fact impressed Madison newspaper man, who continued to look for a machine which carried that combination of tires.

His fact impressed Madison newspaper man, who continued to look for a machine which carried that combination of tires.

Following Galloway's arrest, he denied any knowledge of attack on Jaeger, and when confronted with Jensen's story told the authorities, "Say, you amuse me."

After twenty hours of unceasing questioning, he suddenly said, "There is no use in holding out any longer," and, according to the authorities, told of being with Jensen on the night of the attack, but declared that Jensen was the one who struck the blow which felled Jaeger.

Jensen had said that Galloway was the one who took the money. When Galloway was arrested $485 in musty bills was found in his possession. He could not explain the manner in which the bills came into his hands to the satisfaction of the authorities, and Jensen was called back for more questioning.

On the morning of Aug. 23, Jensen was taken to Madison, where he had told authorities some of the money had been hidden. After hours of searching at various places, Jensen led them to a building where $500 in bills was recovered.

Attorney Bohn then made public a statement that Jensen had confessed to being the one who struck the blows from which Jaeger died.

If I Could Mend China—

CRASH! Another highly valued piece of china broken. Impossible to replace, too, worse luck. This is an everyday occurrence. If I could mend china, I would soon tell people of the fact and cash in on these common china accidents.

Suppose you broke a piece of china today; would you know where to have it mended? Most people wouldn't. So I would tell them—with Janesville Gazette Want Ads—that I could do the job.

The Riddle of the Spinning Wheel

By M. E. and T. W. HANSHEW

Being an Exploit in the Career of Hamilton Cleek, Detective
Copyright, 1922, by Doubleday, Page & Co., and published by arrangement with McClure Newspaper Syndicate of New York City.

"In the nick of time, lad," he breathed, as he released his hold in favor of Dollops. "God knows who the beggar is, but he's like a wild cat. My hands are done in completely. Hold him, and if you landed in back again upon this ledge. The pair of us will be too much for him, I vow! Then we'll have to hold on to the great bell, for help. It's the only way. But we must muffle the clapper first. Here—your torch! God that's what the bighorn's doing, is he? Unmuffling it for us! You're a little, will you?—or you'll find yourself in the next world in the space of another minute. This isn't a table-top, you know. And there's a good fellow, between yourself and eternity. And if you're ready to go, I'm not!"

The creature thus addressed pulled itself up uncertainly, still muttering, and then, as Dollops' hand slid from ankle to knee, from knee to thigh, and then—like a flash—to arm and shoulder, in proper jiu-jitsu grip, whirled, round upon them, something white showing in the clenched fingers of one hand, and ground his teeth at them, as though he would eat them alive.

"Curse—damn you! What are you doing here, hell-hog? He spat out in a low, vehement voice. "My friends will be here any minute—and then your game will be up."

"But not before yours has beaten it by a moment or two, gave back Cleek rapidly. In a low, peevish tone, he said: "You're a little thing in your hand. I'm anxious to see what it is that muffled the bell so successfully last night. And if you don't stand still while I take it, I may land there, will hurt you down into perdition. Now, then—give it up. Got him, Dollops?"

"Got him, Dollops?"

"Here, Mr. Narkom! Want you to take hold of that rope on the right-hand side of the gateway, and pull it for all your worth. We've got to have help to move this thing. In man's guile we've fallen foul of, and got to have it quick!"

And so it came about that the silence of that still night was broken by a sudden by deep-throated pealing at Rhea's great bronze bell gave tongue. Once—twice—three times, until those above it were well-nigh deafened with the sound, and those below and beyond it, by that prearranged signal, that they were wanted—and wanted at once.

Instantly the night became hideous with shouting voices and running steps. The door-keeper hurried out of his cottage with lantern lit, and made his way toward them; constables appeared from every corner of the town; Dollops, meanwhile, Cleek, with the crackling paperish thing that had muffled the bell in his hand, and the other lending what support to Dollops he could give in holding the man down, called out their requirements in the sharp staccato of excitement.

"A net, boys—quick! or a great coat—anything! Only spit out your torches and hold it firm-stretched, and we're going to throw something down to you which will want a lot of holding, for it's as slippery as an eel," he gave out sharply. "Now, then are you ready? Mr. Narkom, see that the lights are strong enough! I don't want him missing fire and landing with a broken neck until we've done with him. Ready, Dollops? One—two—three—

Came a scratching and a rattling and a furious sound of landing material as the mark whirled to be free of those three detaining hands that held him. Then of a sudden a startled rasp, a muttered oath, and a flying black shape came hurtling down in the darkness to that little circle of light where the upturned, expectant faces of the constables showed in Rembrandt-like light and shadow, and it was landed in the folds of the outstretched great coat with a thwack, and was muffled up in it in a moment, kicking and clawing and scratching typically as the thick folds went over his head.

Ten men removed him from it eventually and set him upon his feet, just as Dollops, uttering and sliding down the dangerous ledge, with his heart in his mouth for his master's safety with that injured hand of his, landed with a plump upon the soft ground, and gave Cleek the hand that had helped him all the way down that perilous journey. Until he, too, was in safety at last.

"Gawd's troof, Guv'nor!" he ejaculated, as he whipped out his handkerchief and bound it tightly and professionally over the finger and down on to the strained wrist. "You're 'ut proper, ain't you? That's a narrow squeak, I don't think. That's better, ain't it? I weren't a-goin' to let yer git off without that bit of bandages to help this pain, not if we lost the blinkin' murderer 'isselt. Let's 'ave a look at the chap, sir."

Cleek's good hand swung up across the boy's shoulder.

Dinner Stories

A tired business man was spending his vacation in the country, says Judge. He had been fishing for several hours in very shallow water in a picturesque stream without success. A farmer boy came along with a fine string of trout.

The tired business man was astonished, and said: "Son, I have been fishing here for five hours, and only baited my hook once when I started. What is the matter with the poor fish?"

The boy scratched his head and replied: "Huh! The poor fish is on the wrong end of the pole!"

After carefully effecting an entrance into the bank, the burglar found his strong room. When the light from his lantern fell on the floor he saw the sign: "Save your dynamite. The safe is not locked. Turn the knob and open." For a moment he turned it. "Anyhow, there's no harm in trying it. If it really is open," he grasped the knob and turned it.

Instantly the office was flooded with light, an alarm bell rang loudly, an electric shock rendered him helpless, while a panel in the wall opened, and out rushed a bulldog which seized him.

An hour later, says Judge, when the cell door closed on him he sighed: "I know what's wrong with me, I'm too trusting! I have too much faith in human nature."

Bacon-Potato Omelet.—Take one cup cold potatoes chopped fine, one-half cup bacon diced, four eggs, one-third teaspoon salt, dish pepper, brown potatoes and bacon together in a skillet, separate the eggs, beat the yolks till light, add the seasoning and sprinkle with oil and salt. Cook the mixture. Cool gently and serve.
German Mock Rabbit.—Run through food chopper one pound each lean raw beef and pork, mix with one cup bread crumbs, two or three eggs, salt, pepper, pinch nutmeg and little grated onion. Shape into loaf, brush with beaten egg and sprinkle with few bread crumbs. Bake in pan lined with slices of salt pork, basting frequently; garnish with parsley and slices of lemon.
French Mousse.—Take one cup of sugar, one-quarter cup lemon juice, one quart peaches, one-half envelope gelatin, one-quarter cup of cold water, one-half cup of cream. Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes, dissolve over hot water. Cut up peaches, cover with lemon juice and sugar, and stand in equal parts of ice and salt almost four hours; serve.

SUGGESTIONS
Renovating Velvet or Velour Hats.—Brush the hat thoroughly, beat a hair iron very hot, dampen a cloth and lay over the iron, then place hat over the iron, and when steam begins to show through the cloth, brush carefully with piece of velvet. Hold brim over steaming iron and brush.
Ventilated Laundry Box.—Nothing in a new bungalow affords one more satisfaction than the built-in seat in the pretty white bathroom. It has a hinged top, and though of great convenience as a seat, is really intended to be a capacious box for soiled linen. At either end of it, out of ordinary observation, is an opening covered with wire netting, giving perfect ventilation, so that damp clothing never becomes musty or odorous.
Breeding Wool.—To breed a needle with wool, fold the end of the wool over the needle near the point, then slip the needle under a shawl and hold tightly between the thumb and finger of the left hand. With the right hand push the eye of the needle down over the fold and draw the wool through.
Health for the Housewife.—First is the importance of regular habits of eating, sleeping, bathing and proper exercise. This will lay the foundation for good health, for without health no one can hope to be able to succeed. So the most important element toward success in home making as in other vocations is health, which you should zealously guard and maintain.

THE ATTRACTIVE INVALID
They say that when the convalescing invalid asks for her powder puff she's practically well. The quest usually comes on the first day she's allowed to sit up. Change to a dressing gown and a different position possibly makes her take an interest in more than medicine bottles and the light literature recommended for sick people.

But she ought, if she's a wise woman, to take an interest in her appearance long before the convalescing stage is reached. Her friends will be sympathetic, but they'll say: "Poor Clara! She's had a hard time of it, hasn't she? You can't tell by her face. I never noticed so many wrinkles on her face."

Helen G. V.—A girl of 21, who is five feet eight inches in height should weigh between 130 and 135 pounds. There is no improbability in your face. I never noticed so many wrinkles on her face.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a blonde, very fair, with blue eyes. I want to get a red dress and an undecorated. Do you think I could wear red?

When a girl dances with a boy and after the dance he says, "I thank you, which should you prefer?" I have been thinking of company with a young man for some time. I have met his parents and think a lot of them, but I feel as though they didn't think much of me. He and I are secretly engaged, but don't intend to be married until next spring. Do you think it would be all right to send his mother and father a Christmas greeting? I want to, but am afraid they might think I am doing it to win their son, but I know he loves me and I love him.

ROPE.
If your skin is clear you can wear red. It is a color which is not even becoming to brunettes unless they have clear skin.

She should say she has enjoyed the dance.

I would not advise you to send the Christmas greeting to the young man's parents. After your engagement has been announced there will be time to show them the love letters which will endear them to you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please tell me how to wear a hat when she goes to the show at night?

How late should a boy stay when calling?

Is it all right for a girl to go out riding with a friend at night?

BLONDE AND BRUNETTE.
A girl should develop sweetness, intelligence and charm if she wants to be attractive. It is most unwise to make the effort to attract a certain boy. Usually when a young man feels he is pursued he takes a dislike to the girl who is so deeply interested in him.

It is correct to wear a hat or go without one when going to a theater at night.

A boy should go home at 10 o'clock when he is in a girl's company.

It is not correct to go riding with a boy at night unless she is accompanied by an older person.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a man of many years, but I feel like a baby. I have been going with a girl for about six months, and we have brought up in the same home town. There is just one fault I have to find with this girl and that is that she doesn't seem to have much to say. She has a very quiet disposition and she does not seem to associate with that much matter.

When you don't sleep well these hot summer nights and wake up feeling dull and tired, what good is a vacation going to do? The trouble with most business women is that they overtax their nerve. They haven't the vigor to go through a hard day's work with enough strength, energy and "pep" left over to enjoy evenings.

Countless numbers are using Dr. Thacker's Liver and Blood Syrup because it is delicious to take and so strengthening, nourishing and well suited to the stomach. Helps you increase appetite, round out the girlish lines of your figure with firm, solid flesh. Improves digestion, soothes and tones the liver, gently corrects constipation, clears up the complexion and sends healthful blood coursing through rosy cheeks.
